Competences for Controlling, Finance & Management

„I strongly believe in the formula: degree + work experience + professional certification = great finance professional. The CMA's exam content is highly relevant to any financial expert and makes you a well rounded professional.“

Pascal Peter, CMA, CIA

Head of Controlling | Röfix AG

„Passing the CMA program is the stamp of competency critical to the CFO team as that role continues to evolve into an enterprise role in terms of strategic planning, innovation, operations and technology. And, just as organizations seek to create market and product differentiation in a world of commoditization and consolidation, so too must individuals differentiate themselves and earning a globally recognized credential like the CMA enables that differentiation.“

Jeffrey C. Thomson, CMA, CAE

President and CEO, Institute of Management Accountants
